France's Most Original Tourist Office Celebrates its 500th Anniversary

Since 1948, the Toulouse Tourist Office has been housed in the oldest standing building of the communal house of Toulouse, the ancestor of the neighboring town hall. Built in 1525 to store gunpowder and archives guaranteeing municipal freedom, it has been commonly called the «Donjon du Capitole» since the restoration by Viollet-le-Duc in the 19th century, which gave it its belfry appearance.

To celebrate the 500th anniversary of the Donjon, Toulouse Team Tourist Office has developed a rich and varied program to encourage visitors and locals to step through the doors of this iconic place. An anniversary poster and postcard will be on sale in limited edition throughout 2025; Paris Mint coins will return to the Donjon at the end of January; two «board game» evenings will be organized within the building on April 26 and October 31, 2025; a roller skating evening in collaboration with Roulez Rose will start and end at the foot of the Donjon on May 16, 2025, for a 12 km circuit; a creators' market will be held in front of the Donjon from 2 PM to 10 PM on June 13, 2025, and a children's drawing contest will take place from May to the end of August, with posters and Paris Mint coins to be won.

To discover the history of the place, 30-minute flash visits (in French) will start on February 21, for the International Tourist Guide Day, and will continue every first Sunday of the month, at 2 PM, 2:45 PM, and 3:30 PM. A dual-voice visit with a guide and a travel advisor from Toulouse Team Tourist Office.

Bemberg Foundation, Renaissance Jewel

Located on Place d'Assézat in the city center, the Bemberg Foundation opened its doors in 1995, within the Hôtel d'Assézat, classified as a historical monument. The Foundation's collection consists of an exceptional ensemble of paintings, sculptures, furniture, and art objects, covering more than five centuries, from the late 15th century to World War II. After three years of significant renovation, the museum reopened in 2024.

The exhibition «Gold and Brilliance, Renaissance Jewelry» (D'or et d'éclat. Le bijou à la Renaissance), presented from April 4 to July 27, 2025, will be the first dedicated to Renaissance jewelry, forty years after the one held by the Victoria and Albert Museum in London in 1980. Four decades later, this project is an important step to report on research advances and present to the public a lesser-known field of the history of precious ornament and Renaissance decorative arts.

Le Nouveau Printemps Festival

Guided by the unique vision of the associated artist, the contemporary art festival Le Nouveau Printemps reinvents itself and invests in a different neighborhood of Toulouse each year. From May 23 to June 22, 2025, the artist Kiddy Smile, DJ, and producer, will offer a unique perspective on the Saint-Sernin neighborhood.

Musée des Augustins – Reopening Late 2025 NEW

First opened during the Revolution, this fine arts museum is one of the oldest in France. Its typically Toulouse architecture offers an exceptional setting for paintings and sculptures dating from the Middle Ages to the 20th century. The convent cloister, ideal for strolling, leads to rooms where more than 700 pieces, including true masterpieces, are exhibited. The significant renovation undertaken since 2018 will be completed by the end of 2025. This prolonged closure has allowed for numerous works, including the creation of a new reception area, open onto a tree-lined forecourt, perfectly meeting accessibility standards, as well as the restoration of the cloister. The museum's closure also provided the opportunity to reorganize the layout of certain rooms.

SCIENCE & THE CITY

A true metropolis of knowledge, Toulouse has science embedded in its DNA. Since its status as the European Capital of Science in 2018, the city now boasts 5 emblematic sites that bear witness to scientific and technological epics, past, present, and future.

1. Aeroscopia

Bringing together more than forty legendary aircraft, Aeroscopia, celebrating its 10th anniversary in 2025, creates a link between the past, present, and future of aeronautics. Whether at the controls of a flight simulator, aboard the Concorde, or the imposing A380, the visit promises to be fun, interactive, and unforgettable.

To complement the aeronautics theme, it is possible to combine a visit to the Aeroscopia museum with one of the three Airbus factory tours organized by the Manatour group: the AIRBUS A350 tour, the AIRBUS KIDS tour adapted for families, and the new AIRBUS A321 tour. NEW Launched at the end of 2024, this circuit invites you to embark on the Final Assembly Line (FAL) Jean-Luc Lagardère, initially dedicated to the A380, right next to the museum, and dive into the world of aeronautical manufacturing by exploring the cutting-edge facilities of the European leader. On the program: a 180° panoramic view to enter the assembly lines, up close to the Airbus A321, the company's flagship aircraft.

© Rémi Deligeon

Note:

The Concorde, a legend in aeronautical history whose first flight took off from Toulouse-Blagnac airport in 1969, is now protected as a historical monument, as an immovable object. This is a first in France, and it is happening in Toulouse, as the first example of this mythical supersonic aircraft, the Concorde 201 F-WTSB, is housed inside Aeroscopia. An anniversary weekend will be celebrated on March 1 and 2, 2025. As a reminder, 20 supersonic aircraft were built worldwide, 10 in France, in Toulouse, and 10 in England, in Bristol.

2. Cité de l'espace

With 4,000 m² of exhibitions, 4 hectares of gardens, an IMAX® 3D theater, a telescope, and two planetariums, the Cité de l'espace, a unique scientific and educational center in Europe dedicated to space exploration, is one of the most visited tourist sites in Toulouse. Here, the animations and exhibitions to discover are closely linked to space news.

The Cité de l'espace allows the public to understand the scientific challenges facing space agencies, explore the Martian terrain and its animations featuring replicas of the Perseverance and Zhurong rovers... A space is also dedicated to the James Webb telescope to contemplate the images taken by this powerful space telescope and understand its role in observing and understanding the Universe.

With the new immersive experience LuneXplorer, visitors can experience a lunar mission like European astronauts!

Note:

The exhibition «Space and Sport» around themes that unite top athletes and astronauts (the body, the mind, team spirit), is extended until the end of December 2025.

3. Envol des Pionniers

Located on the historic site that saw the birth of the greatest human adventure in French aeronautics, L'Envol des Pionniers offers an immersive visit to discover legendary pilots: Saint-Exupéry, Mermoz, Guillaumet, and their peers.

At the end of World War I, the Latécoère Air Lines, then the Compagnie Générale Aéropostale, wove air links from Toulouse between countries and continents, when no aircraft was yet capable of doing so, by transporting mail and then the first passengers.

From February 15, 2025, a temporary and immersive exhibition titled «Air France, a History of Elegance» invites visitors to explore the history and timeless values of the airline from 1933 to today, through immersive settings, rare objects, haute couture uniforms, and models of mythical aircraft.

This exhibition is also an opportunity to rediscover the strong relationship that has always united Toulouse with the company, in historic buildings operated by Air France for 70 years.

4. Muséum

The scientific adventure in Toulouse begins in the heart of the city, in the science district, where the Muséum paved the way for this spirit of shared and transmitted knowledge to the greatest number. Renovated in 2008, the Muséum is now considered the second largest natural history museum in France, positioned at the crossroads of all sciences on the relationships between humans, nature, and the environment, pedagogy, and leisure.

On the occasion of the exhibition «Giants» visible until June 29, 2025, the Muséum invites young and old to follow in the footsteps of eight little-known species from the Cenozoic era, such as Gastornis laurenti, the smilodon, and the woolly mammoth.

Note:

«Natural Mechanics,» an unprecedented collaboration between the Muséum de Toulouse and La Halle de La Machine. The two sites are joining forces to offer the public a cross-view between scientific and artistic representations of the animal world. Until April 29, 2025, a unique cross-programming allows you to immerse yourself in a captivating universe, where science and imagination meet in perfect harmony.

5. Quai des Savoirs

A few meters from the Muséum, at the other end of the Jardin des Plantes, the discovery route continues at the Quai des Savoirs. This unique cultural space is dedicated to the dissemination and sharing of scientific, technical, and industrial culture, innovation, and digital technology. Like the Muséum, it occupies a historic home of the scientific adventure in Toulouse, the former Faculty of Sciences, which retains the memory of Paul Sabatier, whose work on organic chemistry was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1912. Through interactive exhibitions, workshops, and debates, curiosity is awakened in the service of sharing and scientific culture.

From January 31 to November 2, 2025, the Quai des Savoirs presents «Like Sheep?», the exhibition where there is a crowd that invites visitors to discover the fascinating mechanisms that govern crowds, whether they are compact, dilated, in the street, on the internet, following a precise or random movement.

The Explorers Pass, a great plan valid for five consecutive days, allows the whole family to enjoy free entry to the five scientific culture sites (€48 adult rate, €35 child rate).

Toulouse by bike

Guided tours from the Tourist Office

Every year, from spring onwards, the Toulouse Tourist Office organises a cycle tour of the city in partnership with La Maison du vélo. Other service providers, such as Le VélOtrement and Toulouse Bike Tour, also offer this type of tour on two wheels!

Continuing with the theme

À toute vitesse ! L'âge d'or de la bicyclette (Full speed ahead! The golden age of the bicycle), at the Musée des Arts Précieux Paul-Dupuy

At the turn of the twentieth century, cycling took off rapidly, symbolising an era marked by industrial progress and the growth of leisure activities. Initially reserved for the leisure activities of the wealthy classes, the bicycle quickly became accessible to the working classes, to the point where, until the 1960s, it was the main means of transport for working people. The bicycle was also a factor of emancipation, allowing women to wear culottes and baggy trousers, which at the time were forbidden on the public highway. At the same time, cycling became a competitive sport, which in turn encouraged further technical improvements. The Tour de France was born in 1903. Advertising from the 1890s to the 1930s conveys in powerful images the atmosphere of technical and commercial emulation, as well as the changes in society during the golden age of the bicycle, and will be presented in a special exhibition at the Musée Paul-Dupuy from 8 July to 31 August 2025.

IN SLOW MODE

By adopting slow tourism, travellers can truly appreciate the cultural richness and conviviality of Toulouse, while contributing to more sustainable and environmentally-friendly tourism. After cycling, here are some other ideas for activities in slow mode!

The little tourist train

The little tourist train, now electric, takes you around the city on a choice of 2 routes. On the Garonne or Canal du Midi side, seated in the carriage and listening to an audioguide, visitors can immerse themselves in the atmosphere of the city through Toulouse's famous narrow streets.

Note:

Spanish national railway company Renfe will launch a new international AVE train between Toulouse and Barcelona in the second quarter of 2025. The 3.5-hour link between the Pink City and the Catalan capital will operate seasonally until mid-September, with one train a day in each direction.

The tuk-tuk

You can also visit the Pink City in a private 100% electric Tuk-tuk, with audio commentary. Quiet and completely open, this is undoubtedly the best way to discover the charms and personality of this south-western city without getting tired!

NEW

New slow hôtel

The Sangha Hôtel Toulouse has just opened its doors in the Cartoucherie eco-neighbourhood: 75 rooms spread over 5 levels, a rooftop with a breathtaking view of the renovated Halles, a lounge bar and wellness services. An urban cocoon inspired by Buddhist retreats, where well-being is the cornerstone for its guests and the local community.

Waterway activities

In Toulouse, the warmer weather heralds a return to river tourism and bucolic outings aboard one of the Bateaux Toulousains. Depending on the season, the guided cruises allow you to enjoy the peace and quiet of the Canal du Midi, lined with plane trees, or to admire the main monuments from the Garonne River by trying out a lock.

In summer, there are special tours on 14 July and night-time cruises to admire the reflection of Toulouse's lights from the Garonne.

During the summer months, Granhota offers one-hour canoe trips with commentary and supervision, so you can see Toulouse's main monuments from the river, as well as electric boat hire without a licence with Les Caboteurs.
